I. INTRODUCTION

A Care for Critters is an advocacy for animal rights especially those stray animals that we always see outside the street. It is a voice to the voiceless creatures. This advocacy could address issues regarding of animal rights, raising awareness, promoting for stronger animal welfare laws, supporting rescue organizations, and encouraging to people to love the creation of God. Our advocacy is founded upon the belief that the measure of a society's greatness lies not only in its treatment of the powerful, but in its compassion towards the most vulnerable.

Each and every day, animals, especially strays, face cruelty of humankind and challenges that threaten their well-being and survival. From overpopulation and abandonment to abuse and lack of healthcare, these animals endure hardships that most of us can hardly imagine. Through education, outreach, and legislative action, we strive to raise awareness about the plight of animals and inspire meaningful change in both policy and practice.

Together, we can cultivate a world where animals are no longer viewed as commodities, but as cherished companions on this journey we call life. We believe that every animal deserves to live a life free from suffering and cruelty. We, Group 1 of WD-301, are committed to raising awareness about the issues facing animals. Together, we can create a better world and difference in the lives of these deserving creatures.

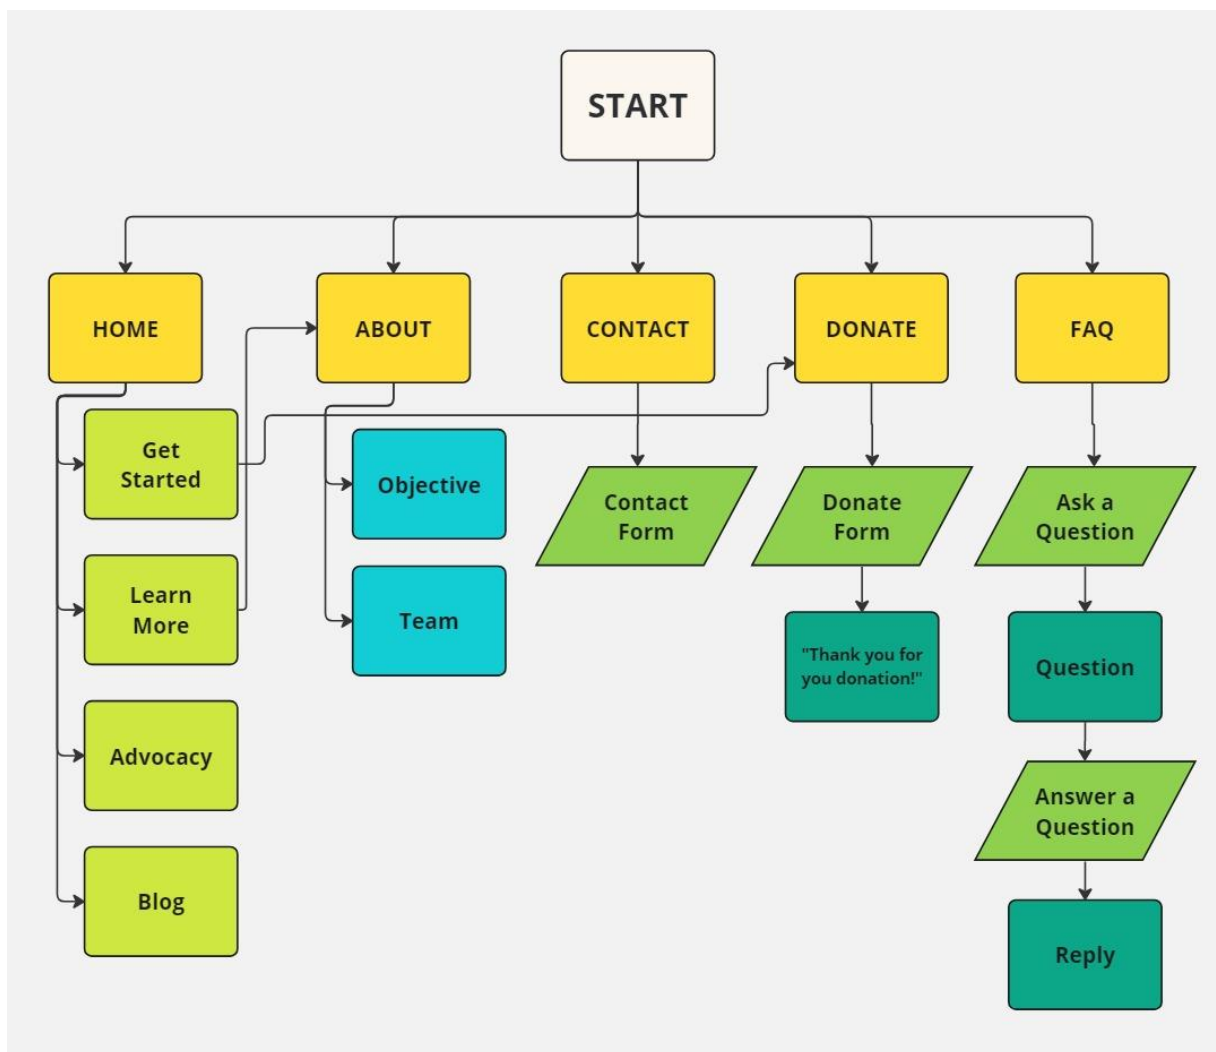

II. PROBLEMS AND ISSUES

- Overpopulation: When there are more animals in an area than the environment can sustainably support, leading to issues like competition for resources, spread of diseases, and habitat degradation.
- Abandonment: The act of leaving animals without care or support, often resulting in them being left to fend for themselves, leading to suffering and sometimes death.
- Abuse & Cruelty: Intentional harm inflicted upon animals, whether through physical violence, neglect, or exploitation, causing them pain, fear, and distress.
- Hunger & Thirst: When animals lack access to sufficient food and water, leading to malnutrition, dehydration, and weakened immune systems.
- Harsh Environment: Exposure to extreme weather conditions, natural disasters, or polluted environments, endangering the health and well-being of animals.
- Lack of Shelter: Animals being deprived of adequate protection from the elements, such as shelter from rain, cold, or extreme heat, leaving them vulnerable to illness and injury.
- Lack of Healthcare: Animals not receiving necessary medical attention, vaccinations, or preventative care, leading to untreated illnesses, injuries, and suffering.

HOLY ANGEL UNIVERSITYIII. OBJECTIVES

- To promote awareness: Our aim is to educate individuals and communities about the challenges faced by animals, fostering understanding and empathy towards their needs and rights.
- To promote pet ownership responsibilities: We seek to empower pet owners with knowledge and resources to ensure the well-being of their companions, emphasizing the importance of proper care, training, and commitment.
- Advocate for stronger animal welfare laws: We actively lobby for legislative changes and policies that afford greater protection and rights to animals, advocating for stricter regulations against abuse, neglect, and exploitation.
- To provide a better knowledge for these creatures: Our goal is to increase public understanding of animal behavior, biology, and needs, equipping individuals with the knowledge to make informed decisions that benefit both animals and humans.
- To encourage compassionate choices: We strive to inspire individuals to make ethical and compassionate choices in their daily lives, promoting alternatives to practices that cause harm or suffering to animals, such as adopting cruelty-free lifestyles and supporting sustainable practices.
